PLATINUM STARS LIVE A DREAM, NOW!

It started as a normal quarter-final game that saw criticism from many quarters, in particular the opponents and their supporters, who perceived Platinum Stars to be the underdog, never mind the team that finished second in last season's League! This is a shared achievement and a provincial celebration as Platinum Stars live a dream, long overdue. They are the MTN8 2013 Champions.

Dikwena triumphed 3-1 in a penalty shoot-out after a 1-1 draw in a tightly contested final in a wet Durban. The victory is a historic one for the North West side, whose only previous trophy success had come in the 2006 Telkom Knockout. The first half was devoid of genuine clear-cut chances, and the teams went into the break locked at 0-0.

A journey started, they stood bold and walked tall. Platinum Stars defied the odds and overcame challenges along the way. As the sun rose on Sunday, 29 September 2013, it rose with victory. In the presence of Kgosi Leruo Molotlegi, Dikwena were officially crowned the champions of the 2013-14 MTN 8 Wafa Wafa! Tournament. They scored, they played, they broke records and all received "Man of the Match" awards in the tournament.

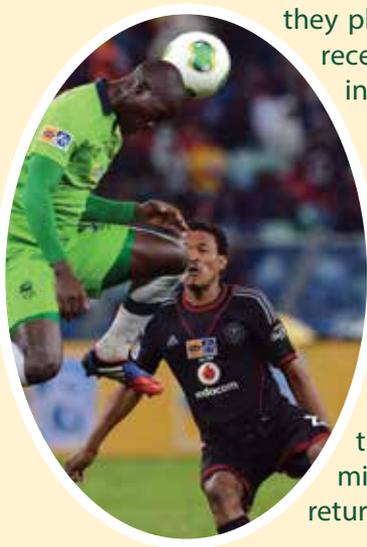

The first game in this particular tournament, Platinum Stars played Free State Stars and won 3-1, at the Royal Bafokeng Sports Palace. The second leg was the first semi-final vs Bidvest Wits, on our home ground, which we won 4-2. This large score meant that Bidvest Wits had to chase a miracle to even out the score. The return match, at Bidvest Stadium, saw Wits battle and lose. Robert Ng'ambi scored 2 goals which made the aggregate 6-3 for the "Clever Boys" and at the final whistle, Durban was calling Dikwena; Orlando Pirates would be our adversaries in the final. After seven long years of waiting, suspense and defeats, the team travelled to Durban to represent Bafokeng and the province.

"It is a great achievement for the Club and the culmination of an incredible amount of work put into taking this side to the next level. "We have been one of the leading sides in the PSL for the last twelve months or so and now we acquired the opportunity to put another trophy in the cabinet, which is a great reward for everybody involved with the team. This side represents the Bafokeng Nation - and all people of the North West province - and we are very excited to be able to bring this success to them. It is very special for us", said Senzo Mazingiza, Football Manager.

He added that, "The Club's Board has done exceptionally well to steer the side over the last few years and put us into a position where we can win silverware." Mazingiza hopes that Stars' achievement, in winning the MTN8 decider, will perhaps cast the Club in a new light in South African football. "We feel that this side should be receiving more recognition; the brand of football we play is exciting and has brought about good results. This is a Club that is very much "on the up" and with an exciting future in front of us."

What started as a dream, developed with confidence, increased in trust, advanced with team work, endured patience, excited passion and now more than ever, adoration has succeeded. Dikwena proved that no-one can interfere with destiny's plan.

The Acquisition of Land - The Bafokeng Story

Chapter 4: The Acquisition of Land

In this chapter we examine the very important issue of land acquisition by the Bafokeng, for it was to be the prop upon which their prosperity was constructed. The accumulation of farms by the Bafokeng took place over a considerable period, from the time of the arrival of the Voortrekkers up to the 1940s. In order to better comprehend the process and scale of land acquisition, we have chosen to document these in one section.

By the end of the 19th century, most of the land in South Africa had come under the possession of whites, through conquest or other forms of alienation. Consequently, enormous changes followed regarding African access to land, land tenure and productive relations on the land. Many of these changes were due to state intervention or policy shifts which continually eroded the Africans' security of tenure. Black people countered land alienation in several ways, one of which was land purchasing. This chapter begins with a brief discussion of the process of land purchasing in the western Transvaal generally and then dwells on the Bafokeng specifically.

During the late 1860s, while the SAR authorities were debating whether to allow Africans to buy land, Africans began to consider buying land through the white missionaries working among them. The Africans would give the purchase price, usually in cattle, through their Kgosi to the missionary, who would buy the land and register it for them in his name on their behalf. The Bafokeng also paid for farms in cash as early as the late 1860s when young men went to work on the diamond mines to earn money partly with this intention in mind. However, although the missionaries held 'all proprietary rights over the [Africans'] farms', there were generally no written agreements between them and the Africans, a situation that was open to abuse. Until the situation changed, Africans had no alternative but to buy the land through the missionaries. From the late 1860s, this was the practise of black people all over the Transvaal.

The Royal Bafokeng Administration's (RBA) Research & Knowledge Management Department has overtime been part of the production of several books and publications. So far, the following books have been produced and available for the public:

1. 'People of the Dew'. A history of the Bafokeng of Phokeng- Rustenburg Region, South Africa, from Early Times to 2000, available at Jacana Media (Contact details: 0116283200/ sales@jacana.co.za)

CRIME REPORT

Drug abuse and smuggling

Phokeng – Lenatong (Capital Region)

Another successful crime fighting operation took place recently. A twenty year old suspect was arrested for possession of (Nyaope) heroin in Lenatong after a tip – off by reliable sources. The suspect is also alleged to be dealing with crack cocaine as well as dagga.

A search was conducted and seven packs of Heroin - weighing 46 grams with a street value of R1 840.00 was recovered, 58 grams of dagga with a street value of R 145.00 was also found at the said house

Paul Coetzee, Safety and Security Head said despite the apprehension of the suspects, this situation emphasizes the unfortunate presence of so called “hard drugs” in RBN area. “We need to be vigilant and focused in our endeavours to root out this evil amongst our people – sooner rather than later” said Coetzee. He added that this operation reflected amongst others - the advantages of planned effective joint operations with the SAPS, the central and shared management of related narcotic information.

Stock theft

Mmamerotse – North East Region

On Tuesday night 09 September, twelve cattle to the value of R108 000-00 were stolen from the kraal at Zandfontein farm near Mmamerotse and the case was reported at Phokeng police station.

A joint operation which was conducted the following day by RBA Air Wing, Section 4 Members [anti stock theft section] and Phokeng SAPS Stock Theft Unit led to the recovery of stolen cattle near UG 2 plant. No suspects have been arrested and the cattle were handed back to the owner Mr. Essai Nke.

Rape

Phokeng- Capital Region

On Wednesday 04 September a rape incident - during which a fourteen year old female teenager was brutally raped by a family member – was attended. The suspect however ran away after having committed the crime. After a swift investigation and a full understanding of the crime incident members of the Rapid Response Team tracked down the suspect in Robega and arrested him at once. The suspect was taken and detained at Rustenburg SAPS.

The swift arrest of the suspect was the result of excellent crime related information and cooperation between Reaction Force members and members of the Community Safety Committee which was initially created by Protective Services to be the eyes and ears amongst the RBN regarding the identification and reporting of crime to the Reaction Force.

Rustenburg Executive Mayor Cllr. Mpho Khunou

Once again, like in the past 2012 / 2013 soccer league season when they finished position 2 in the log, the Rustenburg based professional soccer team, Platinum Stars, have continued to make us proud by winning the MTN 8 Cup, when they beat Orlando Pirates on the 28th September 2013, at the Moses Mabhida Stadium in Durban.

This is a historic achievement in the history of football in the North West province in general, and the city of Rustenburg in particular. This is a very proud moment for residents of Rustenburg, and we can only reciprocate by supporting the team in their league race for the current season.

Congratulations, 2013 MTN 8 Champions!

Kiddies Sports Festival

a new beginning!!

RBI hosted its 1st Kiddies Sports Festival on 5 October at the Royal Bafokeng Sports Campus, the first festival of its kind in the North West Province.

The children must be complimented on their willingness to tidy up afterwards and make sure no litter was left lying around.

The Festival involved Foundation Phase learners (Gr R – 3). Twenty-five out of twenty-nine RBN primary schools, with a total of 433 learners, participated. The sports codes they took part in were mini netball, soccer and a variety of races: egg & spoon, potato, sack and 3-legged.

A great time was had by all who participated and the event was well supported by parents of the children as well. Requests for future similar events have been noted, so watch this space for news on forthcoming festivals.

Special Olympics Youth Summit

The Special Olympics Youth Summit took place, at Lebone II College 28-30 September, bringing together youth with and without disabilities. The Youth Summit included learners from seven local schools along with school chaperones, community volunteers, United States Peace Corps volunteers and Special Olympics South Africa staff.

Special Olympics is one of the largest movements around the world dedicated to promoting respect, inclusion, acceptance, and human dignity for people of all abilities and disabilities. Special Olympics has been growing in the Royal Bafokeng Nation ever since the 2012 Unity Cup was held in Phokeng last year. This year, Charlie Merrow, Special Olympics Youth Initiatives Coordinator, has been working at local RBN high schools, as well as at neighbouring special schools, to promote the Special Olympics youth activation programmes and to spread the mission of Special Olympics. One of Charlie's main projects this year was coordinating this year's Special Olympics Youth Summit.

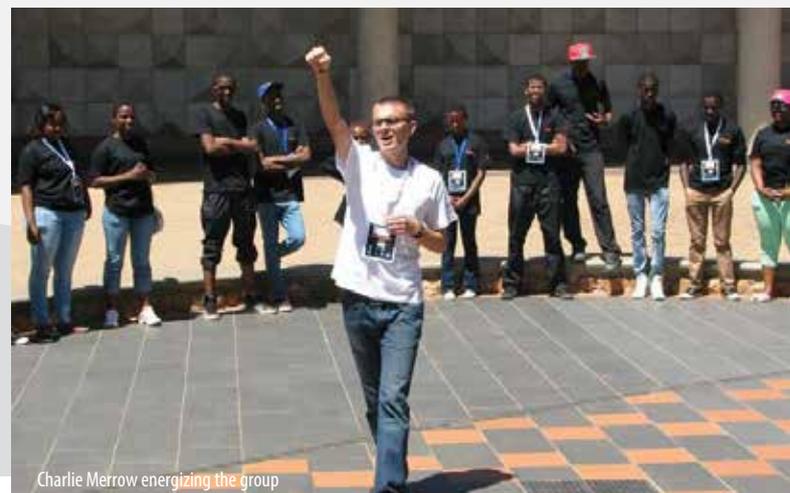

This year's Summit brought together over 80 learners from Bafokeng High, Charora High, Iteko Special School, Kutlwanong Special School, Lebone II College, Reoleboga Special School and Thethe High for a three-day, overnight conference focusing on tolerance, rendering acceptance, and promoting respect for all people no matter their ability.

The Youth Summit participants travelled to Lebone II College on the morning of 28 September and were immediately divided into teams comprised of learners and volunteers from each of the seven schools. There was never a dull or boring moment at the Summit as the programme was filled with informational and interactive sessions, team activities and motivational guest speakers. The Youth Summit staff of volunteers kept participants constantly busy and engaged with games and activities both inside and outdoors, building confidence in the youth and encouraging full participation. On Saturday night after dinner everyone met at the Lebone Amphitheatre for interactive drumming and dancing. This was a night to remember as the youth solidified as a group as they all drummed together, in unity, under the stars.

Annemarie van Wieringen, the CEO of Special Olympics South Africa, said, "Having a hall full of energized youth and Special Olympics athletes commit to building an inclusive future in South Africa was a fitting tribute to our founder and reaffirmed our belief that the youth within the Royal Bafokeng Nation have the ability and the will to carry the message of acceptance and respect forward, across the Nation and throughout South Africa."

During the Youth Summit, there were many outstanding presenters and speakers who inspired and motivated the youth. One notable speaker was Nthabeleng Modiko who encouraged the youth with her inspirational talk. Nthabeleng Modiko is a former player for South Africa's Banyana Banyana national female soccer team as well as a coach for an all deaf female soccer team. She inspired the youth to persevere in life and to follow their dreams while respecting and accepting everyone they meet along their journey.

Another powerful session was led by two local learners, Thapelo Nthite from Lebone II College and Vincent Ramorwesi from Iteko Special School. Thapelo and Vincent travelled together to South Korea earlier this year to attend the Special Olympics Winter Games and to represent South Africa at the Special Olympics Global Youth Summit. These two inspirational young men spoke about their experience in South Korea and time with Special Olympics. Each team presented a group act during the Sunday night talent show and on Monday morning performed their personal original dramas on stage.

Youth were encouraged to speak and share their opinions and ideas surrounding people with intellectual disabilities and the work they have been achieving in their communities with Special Olympics.

Special guests from Special Olympics, the Royal Bafokeng Institute, Lebone II College, and the United States Peace Corps attended the closing ceremony of the youth summit on 30 September where participants were awarded certificates for their participation. During the closing ceremony, selected youth performed and presented poems, dances, and songs. Keaaleboga Malumane, a grade 12 from Thethe High School, presented her own original piece explaining how Special Olympics has changed her life by saying, "It feels like yesterday when I had a fear towards people with disabilities; when I could not socialise, sleep, eat, interact or think about people with disabilities. To my world they did not exist, to my class they did not belong, to my status they did not fit, to my society it was a taboo to mention them, a sin to communicate with them and a curse to be one of them. Yes, nobody told me they were human like me. But today my life has changed only because of people who believed and had faith that we are all unique before God and creation. We are a family and we need each other. It took courage and hard work for them to persevere; it took dedication and patience for them to understand how to live with people who have disabilities. But it can only take willingness from you and me to spread the word because we are equipped like soldiers. We have a helmet of knowledge, spear of defence, a shield of truth, a belt of understanding, the boots of unity, gloves of interpretation, and voices to grasp attention. Thanks to Special Olympics for giving us a chance to view life from God's point of view."

The youth and chaperones came up with action plans of possible Special Olympics projects they can implement and work on together in their communities and schools continuing to form relationships between mainstream learners and special school learners. Taylor Crosby, one of the Peace Corps volunteers who helped at the camp, explained, "Being a part of the 2013 Youth Summit was an amazing and unique experience. To witness youth overcoming adversity to bridge the gap between mainstream and disabled learners to form lifelong friendships and continue to advocate for a global movement provides hope for a brighter future not only for South Africa, but for the world. Change starts with the youth; through this event I can see the possibilities are limitless."

From the beginning, the goal of the Summit was to bring together youth with and without disabilities from Bafokeng communities to work together, to dispel the myths and stereotypes that surround people living with intellectual disabilities through interactive activities, in depth conversations, and collaborative teambuilding exercises, and it was clear by the end of the Youth Summit that this goal was achieved. Stereotypes were dismissed, knowledge was learned, and new friendships were formed. The youth came together on the 28th as a group of strangers from seven different schools and ended on the 30th as a network of lifelong friends with plans for the future to be ambassadors of change in the world. "I was in a room full of "special people" but I could not tell who was disabled and who was not because everyone in there was capable of doing all that I could do. So the summit to me was an eye opener for tolerance towards all different kinds of people." – Thabang Kgaladi, Lebone II College

IN THE COACH'S SEAT WITH ALLAN FREESE

Platinum Stars appointed Allan Freese as Head Coach at the start of the 2013/14 PSL Season. He looked forward to taking on the job of coaching the League's Runners-up and accepted it with pride. Four months down the line, Allan is the talk of town: for his bravery, support, humility and charismatic character. We sat on the seat with him and asked him about his career and his plans for Platinum Stars.

Q: What does it take to coach a team like Dikwena?

AF: You need experience in the PSL space and have to be involved. You also need knowledge that is relevant, support of your technical team, management and supporters to succeed. Management is more important because they are the base of your success. A positive management that understands your expectations helps in the success of a team. My players are buying in to my ideas, and they give every time I ask them, because if they achieve I also achieve.

"It is an achievement one will never take away from us and I am grateful!"

Q: We are now done with the MTN 8 Tournament. Briefly tell us what is going on in your mind?

AF: It is an achievement one will never take away from us and I am grateful! The next tournament is the Telkom Knock Out. We have a plan, to take one game at a time, and preparations are underway and we are looking forward to the tournament.

Q: Your message to the supporters and North West?

AF: I am happy that the Club has won the trophy. Bafokeng Nation and North West Province please come and support us. I would like to see more people come from the province, because whether we like it or not, we are in the Province.

Q: Do you understand the significance of the status of the team, at this point? Please elaborate?

AF: To play in the PSL is a big thing already. The top league in the country and we will always strive to remain in the league. Platinum Stars is slowly winning the hearts of our supporters, we are getting there, slowly but surely.

Q: Looking back, what would be your best and most treasured moment with Dikwena?

AF: I have a couple, but the most recent was beating Bidvest Wits 2-1 to get into the final, because we did not know what Gavin Hunt was going to come with. A heavy game that saw us achieve a golden crown.

A victory over Orlando Pirates to clinch MTN* 2013 Champions title was a sweet one. Dikwena won 3-1 in a penalty shoot-out after a 1-1 draw in a tightly contested final on Saturday 28 September in Durban. The victory is a historic one for the North West side, whose only previous trophy success had come in the 2006 Telkom Knockout. The first half was devoid of genuine clear-cut chances, and the teams went into the break locked at 0-0.

Speaking just before the game Vuyo Mere said: "The fact that we are in the final means we worked hard. We are here for our beautiful province, and our supporters. We want this Cup, more than our supporters know. Let us all gather under the beautiful structure at Moses Mabida and celebrate the historical achievement".

Platinum Stars' Robert Ngambi said their team always achieves better result; hence they always go out and carry the spirit of team work. "We went out there, and we wanted the title so badly. We did not want to prove anyone wrong or right. We wanted to display the quality of football we always do. I mean, it is an open secret that we are the leading goal scoring team in the tournament and that boosts a lot of confidence within us. Coach deserves a pat and a half, and as for the technical team, we are nothing without them and to management, we are grateful and we will always represent with pride", said Ngambi.

Dikwena broke the deadlock three minutes into the second half as Malawi international Robert Ng'ambi followed up his semifinal heroics with another goal. Tintswalo Tshabalala's delivery from a set-piece was flicked on by Benson Mhlongo and Ng'ambi was on hand to head home. It looked as though that might be enough to seal the win outright, but Pirates equalized with a wonderful strike from Thabo Matlaba as he crashed the ball home from 30-yards.

That sent the game into extra-time and despite chances at either end, neither side could find a winner. Stars held their nerve in the penalty shoot-out as Pirates missed three of their spot-kicks, Rooi Mahamutsa, Ndumiso Maben and Lennox Bacela off target for them.

Vuyo Mere, Henrico Botes and Mogakolodi Ngele netted their penalties to give Stars the title triumph. Next, is the Telkom Knockout and the team is preparing thoroughly for the tournament, with the game between Maritzburg United, just few days from now.

"At times we know we want to achieve. We chased a dream and played passionately so. We collected a dream and achieved it as a team. Our Coach was clear from the onset and gave it to us. It was us in the pitch and everyone had to give their all. We did! We played and we won. We saw the presence of Kgosi Leruo and that gave us a boost! We had to impress and put smiles on the Province at large. North West is all smiles, Dikwena are grateful. Now, Telkom knockout, we have moved on and will give the best football on pitch South Africa has never seen", Sibusiso Msomi commented.
