Bafokeng Express Respect for Madiba's Vision and Values

Amid our overwhelming sadness at this giant loss, the Bafokeng are thankful for Ntate Madiba's life of sacrifice for us all. Today we can also celebrate the life and legacy of Nelson Rolihlahla Mandela, a man who personified the values we seek to build in our community. In admiration and humility, and in light of his spirit of inclusiveness, we will always respect him, even as one of our own forbearers. We will seek to live and expand his legacy.

Despite his long and hard road, Madiba was a warm-hearted man of compassion, but also a practical man of planning and building: he had a long-term vision for South Africa that allowed him to see beyond the seemingly intractable challenges of the moment. He was able to gather others to believe in and support this vision, leading by the power of his convictions, his drive for equality and the spirit of reconciliation, rather than by focusing attention on himself. He was a principled yet humble leader and by expressing strong values and living by them consistently in his personal and professional life, he used his position to inspire those around him to think differently about themselves, their fellow citizens and their contributions to a collective future.

Madiba grew up in the context of a traditional community with traditional decision-making structures, and drew on the power of consultation and consensus throughout the course of his leadership. This made him all the more inclusive, approachable and influential. He shared the traditional understanding of the need to address the holistic person – the individual as a social and emotional being, linked into a wider community – which strengthened his ability to find common ground with former enemies and allies alike. When the shape of our current democratic state and society were being negotiated, Nelson Mandela insisted on the need to build on, not reject, our particularly African cultures and structures, culminating in the integration of traditional governance into our Constitutional dispensation.

In recognition of Madiba's legacy, we undertake to continue working towards a strong, mutually supportive and efficient partnership between traditional and municipal systems of governance, since we share the same aims: dignified and prosperous communities.

Go well, Ntate, you will always be with us.

Puisano - Your views on Governance and Traditional Courts

This is the eighth in a series of articles reporting back to Morafe on the findings of a 2012 survey, called 'Puisano', which asked a representative sample of 700 RBN residents about their expectations, perceptions and levels of satisfaction with regard to services provided by the RBA and in the RBN area. In this edition, we will highlight what you told us about RBN governance.

Governance

Bafokeng have a high rate of satisfaction with RBN traditional governance systems. The Puisano survey showed that 16% of Bafokeng were very satisfied and 43% were very satisfied, for a total of 59% satisfaction. On the other hand, 6% were dissatisfied and only 4% were very dissatisfied. 13% said they were neither satisfied or dissatisfied and 18% said they did not know. This is consistent with the levels of satisfaction reported during the 2011 PULA survey, during which all households on RBN land were interviewed. In PULA, 92% trust their Kgosana to represent their interests, 91% trust their Bafokeng councillor to represent their interests and 91% said they trust Kgosi to represent their interests.

Knowledge of and participation in traditional governance processes is also high. According to the Puisano survey, 83% of Bafokeng know the name of their Kgosana (87% said the same in the PULA survey) and 98% know the name of their Kgosi. In the PULA survey, 74% of Bafokeng said they are members of a kgotla. Of those who are members, 92% said they use the kgotla system to gather information about the community and the nation and 85% said they bring disputes to kgotla for resolution.

Traditional Courts

32% of Puisano survey respondents had no opinion on the Traditional Courts, suggesting they had not used them. Of those with a view, 62% were satisfied or very satisfied and 18% were dissatisfied or very dissatisfied, with 20% saying they were neither nor. For those who perceive the RBA to be the service provider for the traditional courts, satisfaction levels were even higher with 68% being satisfied or very satisfied and only 12% being dissatisfied. For those who see kgotla as being the service providers, satisfaction levels are at 58% and dissatisfaction at 26%.

For further information about Puisano, please contact or call the Research & Knowledge Management Department on 014 566 1484.

MEDICAL MALE CIRCUMCISION, HIGH VOLUME SITE LAUNCH

The North West MEC of Health Dr Magome Masike launched Phokeng Health Centre as High Volume site for Medical Male Circumcision (MMC) on 28 November 2013.

The Centre will provide free high quality male circumcision for men from the age 10 years and older. Phokeng Health Center was chosen by the Provincial and District Department of Health, as Rustenburg had high prevalence of HIV AIDS which is 4% of the national statistics.

CHAPS is the partner for the extension of the programme in Phokeng Health Centre and also at Bapong Community Centre. The government has provided mobile services for easy access of MMC at other Municipalities and Mogwase and Rustenburg prisons.

Male circumcision is a very old practice, traditionally undertaken as a mark of cultural identity or because of religious importance; however the spread of HIV/AIDS has prompted the government to use it as the strategy to reduce rates of new infections in men and women. Studies had proven that male circumcision could reduce the rate of new infections by 60%. Men who want to access the service they are ensured that the procedure is safe, free and effective and the government ensure cultural and religious sensitivity when dealing with male circumcision, said the MEC.

The MEC said that "the Medical Male Circumcision does not in any way replace the preventative strategies, abstain, condomise and keep to one partner. Male circumcision should be part of a comprehensive HIV-prevention approach: This will include the following

- o The provision of HIV testing and counselling services;
- o Treatment for sexually transmitted diseases;
- o The promotion of safer sex practices; and
- o Provision of male and female condoms and promotion of their correct and consistent use".

What are the reasons why circumcision is good for men's health

Evidence shows that the inner skin of the foreskin is more likely to absorb HIV than any other skin as it is more prone to small tears during sex.

Within the foreskin, there are cells called Langerhans and other receptor cells that attract the HI virus.

Men who are not circumcised are also more likely to get other STIs such as genital ulcers (esp. Chancroid and Balanitis) that increases the risk for HIV infection.

Benefits of Male Circumcision

When the foreskin has been completely removed under medical conditions, from the head of the penis:

- It is easier to keep clean.
- It eliminates bruising and tearing during sex, which makes sex more enjoyable for men and women.
- Cells that attract HIV have been removed.
- It reduces the risk of HIV infection but there is still a 40% chance that circumcised men can get HIV.
- Lower risk of STIs and diseases.
- It provides health benefits for sexual partners - Medical male circumcision (MMC) is good for a women's health too as it reduces her risk to cervical cancer by removing the human papilloma virus that is often carried in the foreskin.

"Circumcised men should still use a condom every time you have sex, keep to one, sexual partner and test for HIV to know your status so that you can make the best decision for your health".

Platinum Stars' Absa Premiership fixture against Bloemfontein Celtic scheduled for Wednesday 11 December 13, has been postponed.

This after the Premier Soccer League announced that all fixtures in the top three divisions in South Africa this week would be played at a later date due to the availability of venues.

With so many memorial services to former president Nelson Mandela scheduled for this week, a number of stadia are no longer available for football.

"Stadiums that were going to host some of our fixtures have been confirmed as venues to host memorial services and other gatherings to pay special respect to Madiba," PSL CEO Brand de Villiers said.

"We therefore took a decision that due to logistical challenges faced by the League and the clubs, we should postpone the fixtures scheduled for mid-week and the weekend."

No new date had yet been set for the Celtic clash and it means that Dikwena's next fixture will be at home to Orlando Pirates in an Absa Premiership clash at the Royal Bafokeng Sports Palace on Monday, December 16 (kick-off 18h00), the Day of reconciliation public holiday.

Tickets for this match are now on sale at Computicket and Shoprite/Checkers. These are priced at R40 for adults and R20 for children under 12 years of age.

Stars claim TKO title as Ngele nets fantastic brace!

Platinum Stars have won a second domestic knockout trophy of the season after a 2-1 victory over Orlando Pirates in the final of the Telkom Knockout in Mbombela on Saturday night.

Mogakolodi Ngele came off the bench to score twice and help Dikwena come back from a goal down to claim the trophy. It is a repeat of their MTN8 triumph over the selfsame Pirates side.

Lucky Lekgwathi had put The Buccaneers ahead in the first half, but Stars showed their fighting spirit to keep plugging away and eventually come out on top thanks to a magnificent winner from the Botswana international Ngele.

Allan Freese side received a boost before kick-off when skipper Vuyo Mere was passed fit to play, taking his place at right-back.

And Stars made the brighter start, Solomon Mathe scuffing his shot after being brilliantly set-up by Luvolwethu Mpeta.

But they were punished from a set-piece on 29 minutes when Daine Klate swung in a free-kick and Lekgwathi glanced his header home.

Siyabonga Mpontshane denied Piorates a second early in the second half when he made a brilliant one-handed save as Mpeta turned the ball towards his own goal.

But the game was changed when Ngele came on for Issa Sarr midway through the second period. First he burst into the penalty area and chipped the ball over Senzo Meyiwa in the Pirates goal to make it 1-1.

And then with two minutes remaining he scored a magnificent winner, side-footing home from 30 yards with minimal back-lift and leaving Meyiwa with no chance.

"At halftime we went into the change room and spoke about the mistakes we had made," Stars coach Allan Freese said. "We said let's get the ball up to Henrico [Botes] so he can hold it up, let's support him. We had to be more positive to go forward."

"That was a beautiful goal from Ngele. Henrico was brilliant up front, it was wonderful to see."

"I am very happy for the players, for the support staff that we have and for everybody involved with the Bafokeng Nation that supports the team."

The Man

Who Wears the Captain's Arm Band

Vuyo Mere is a dedicated Platinum Stars player and always goes out of his way to leave a smile on the faces of all he comes across. He cuts a bold figure on the field and as the Captain of Dikwena, Vuyo's shows complete responsibility. Here, we take a bit of time to get to know the man who wears the Captain's arm band at Dikwena.

Q: You have been a part of the team for how long?

VM: I joined Platinum Stars in the 2011/2012 season, which makes this my third season with the team.

Q: You have grown from a young boy to a responsible player in the league, won a trophy and finished second in the league after all this time; your take on that?

VM: Having played in the league at an early age really was a blessing for me as I have achieved so much in the game. I managed to win so many trophies and represent my country at an early age. My experience has pulled me through in achieving what I have accomplished thus far. Being Captain of the team and leading it to the MTN 8 victory was just a blessing from God for all the hard work

I have put in. Thanks to my teammates and the technical team for helping in all aspects of my game.

Q: You seem like a friendly person, and you get along very well with other players, your secret?

VM: Creating a friendly and stress free environment around me is the way to go for me. I love being around happy faces and motivating others when they are not at their best. I pray every day that God purifies and blesses me with a loving heart and I guess my prayers are being answered at this time.

Q: What motivates you in life?

VM: There are so many things that motivate me in life but there are a couple that stand out: Firstly, I am blessed with two handsome sons and they are the reason why I wake up in the morning and look forward to working hard to provide for them. Secondly, I was raised by two loving parents who only want the best for me and my little brother Siphos, whom I love dearly; they have done so much for me that I can't let them down. Thank God for blessing me with this happy family.

Q: You are a family man, how do you juggle this with your "not predictable" job?

VM: Well, my family comes first then my job, simply because my family mean the world to me, they are the reason why I work so hard and they give me all the support I need, so they really play a pivotal role in my success.

Q: Platinum Stars is currently winning the hearts of many. The style of football the team plays, the approach and all that you guys do. What keeps you going?

VM: The belief and hunger from everybody really keep us going. As Platinum Stars we decided to put God first in everything we do and our God is blessing us abundantly. We know He has so many things in store for us, so faith is a key factor at Platinum Stars.

Q: Vuyo Mere, emotions run in people's expressions whenever they talk about you, what is it that you think people love about you?

VM: God has blessed me with a pure heart and I love interacting with everybody. As a leader in my team and the way I was brought up, I guess it's important that my conduct and attitude reflects that and that's not so difficult. My parents have helped me to be grounded, besides all the success I have had in my career, and I think that's what people like about me.

Q: Every game you play is different in terms of support, which you are now receiving from your loyal supporters. What do you have to say to the supporters?

VM: It's really motivating to see that slowly but surely we are able to fill more seats at the Stadium, than our past games, which really shows that we are doing a great job on and off the field. We must not forget that Platinum Stars is a developing brand which is working its way up to the top to compete with other leading teams in the country, so I'm really happy with the outcome.

THANK YOU FOR YOUR SUPPORT
